

About the Garden Centre

Buckingham Garden Centre is an independent, family-run Garden Centre. We pride ourselves on the expert knowledge of our staff, the specialist plant nursery and our well respected and nationally known mail order hedging business.

Two generations ago my grandfather, John Brown, turned his expertise and passion for alpines into an Alpine Nursery in London growing and selling his own plants. His son, Richard, then moved the business to Buckingham in the early 1970's and from these humble roots grew the business we are so proud of today. My father Richard and mother Pauline are still very much involved in the Garden Centre and are always happy to share their vast knowledge and passion for all things green with their customers. My brother David and I are also partners and are enthusiastically committed to ensuring the Garden Centre continues to grow and flourish.

At Buckingham Garden Centre we aim to offer you our customers a unique shopping experience with our varied and high-quality product ranges which now include an ever expanding selection of locally sourced products like award winning wines, ales and other indulgent treats. We hope you enjoy shopping with us and we are always keen to hear any views, ideas or comments you have.

Peter Brown, General Manager.
